

SQL in production – Lesson overview

Learning objectives:

- Understand how technology stacks, application architectures, and business requirements influence how we use SQL.
- Understand virtual environments and Python, and why data professionals use them to solve data problems.
- Know the different tools we can use to write and execute Python code.
- Know how to access and run Jupyter notebooks in order to use them to write SQL queries.

Slide deck

Knowledge questions

Walk-through

Reference card

